NEVADA IRRIGATION.

Some Interesting Facts on Water.

Dan De Quille writes as follows to the Salt Lake Tribune:

In Elko county a company has begun the erection of dams for the storage of water that has heretofore run to waste in winter. Already they have one dam that will prove to them a mine of wealth. This is a substantial rock dam across a narrow defile in the hills that surround Squaw Valley. This dam fills a basin of 2,000 acres to an average depth of thirteen feet; containing about 8,500,000,000 gallons of water. They have about twenty-eight miles of irrigation ditches, great and small; have 1,000 acres of alfalfa which is flourishing finely and on which there can be no failure; also considerable crops of grain and vegetables, with much stock of all kinds. Thus their prosperity is insured, for they have a good soil and for moisture are not dependant on a fall of rain from the heavens.

From one end of the State to the other there are places in the Sierras where water could be stored at a small cost for dams. The following are a few localities in Douglas county: On the West Fork of the Carson, Wolf Creek and Fish Fall Valley; on the Middle Fork, Pleasant Valley and Summit Lake; on the West Fork, Red Lakes and a Lake in Charity Valley. Of these, Wolf Creek Ranch contains 2,000 acres, 1,200 acres of which can be flooded to an average depth of 15 feet; Pleasant Valley (1,600 acres), 1,000 acres can be flooded to a depth of 12 feet; and there are plenty of other places quite as available as those mentioned. At none of these places would dams more than twelve to eighteen feet be required to do what is stated. Marlette Lake, from which a supply of water for all the Comstock mines and towns is drawn, covers only 200 acres. By means of high dams across the narrow outlets of the large valleys up near the summit of the mountains, immense lakes might be formed. There is no doubt that our engineers could construct dams that would stand wherever required. Across the river Parens (a small affluent of the Loire), France, is a dam that was constructed to guard the town of St. Etienne against freshets and for supplying it with water, which is 164 feet high and 328 feet in length at the top. It is constructed wholly of stone laid in cement. It is said that the pressure of water when up to its full height, is sufficient to force water through the pores of the stone, yet the dam has never broken. No such dam would be required anywhere in our mountains, yet we can see from this example what might be done were it considered necessary. In this country the greatest, safest and cheapest storage reservoirs might be constructed at a distance from the mountains where there are valleys almost entirely surrounded by hills, the water to fill them being led down from streams in the Sierras. These would be out of the reach of floods and torrents.

Large Law Library.

During the past week Senator Stewart has added nearly 400 volumes to his already extensive law library. The additions are as follows:

- 100 New York Reports.
- 76 American Decisions.
- 30 Myer's Federal Decisions.
- 22 New York Chancery Reports.
- 27 Federal Reporter.
- 26 North Western Reporter.
- 6 Pacific Reporter.
- 66 California Reports.
- 4 Deering's Codes.
- 3 California Digest.
- 11 Miscellaneous works.

Does this library look like a transient law office?

The Notorious Cutting.

A correspondent at Salt Lake writes as follows:

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Your strictures in regard to A. K. Cutting in this morning's issue, were very timely. Not only has this miserable specimen of humanity been a disgrace to journalism, but a blemish in the ranks of the followers of the "art preservative" as well. The people of Mexico are serving this misconception just right, and the Cabinet had better take a "day off" rather than meddle further in this matter.
Yours,
Typo.

ALL SORTS.

—Old Yank is in town.
—Don't forget to register.
—"Three subscribers in Genoa and all drank out."

—It is said that Dick Thomas has struck it loud in his new mine.
—Mrs. H. G. Parker and her son Clarence arrived in Carson on Sunday.

—Mrs. Richard Tyrrell, mother of George Tyrrell of this city, died in Virginia on Sunday last.

—On Sunday evening the bursting of a lamp in Secretary Dormer's house very near set the place on fire.

—The Chinese merchant who died, struck several Carson business men for large amounts. The moral is obvious.

—Miss Minnie Smith, sister of Mrs. John M. Dormer, is quite sick. Her numerous friends hope for a speedy recovery.

—There will be some lively Democratic primaries in Carson on Saturday. Wonder if they will have the same pledge as in Storey.

—If Cleveland, or some leading Democratic General were to come out here, the Republicans would give him as warm a reception as anybody.

—Phil Mighels who is up in the mountains camping, wrote that he wounded a deer back of McKinney's but did not hit him hard enough to bring him down.

—Two men in Glenbrook got into an altercation and had a fist fight. Neither is satisfied and arrangements are being made to have a ring fight at no distant day.

—A. J. Pedrol, the Franktown rancher, was in the city yesterday. He says that he votes for the first time in the State this Fall and will vote the open Republican ticket.

—Gen. Powning was accorded a liberal reception at Reno on his return. When thanked for securing the $30,000 for the survey of public land, he stated that the principle credit was due Jones and Woodburn.

—Young, old and middle-aged, all experience the wonderful beneficial effects of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young children suffering from sore eyes, sore ears, scald-head, or with any scurfy or syphilitic taint, may be made healthy and strong by its use.

—Don't fill the system with quinine in the effort to prevent or cure fever and ague. Ayer's Ague Cure is a far more potent preventive and remedy, with the advantage of leaving in the body no poisons to produce dizziness, deafness, headache, and other disorders. The proprietors warrant it.

Carson Opera House.

This evening our appreciative theater-goers will experience a first-class dramatic treat at the Opera House. The McKee Rankin Company, from the California Theater, San Francisco, will present their great play, "The Golden Giant," with a cast embracing the full strength of the Company. It is a play which takes splendidly wherever presented, and will no doubt take well here. The San Francisco Call of May 20th says:

"The Golden Giant proved itself an immense success on its first production at the California Theater. The drama is one of the same class in which Mr. Rankin has made his great reputation. It is like the 'Danites' and '49,' and at the same time more emotional than either of these successful plays, while equally full of the broad and florid elements which contributed so greatly to their success. There is pathos, humor and melodrama, with no tiresome excess in each. The cast embraces the full strength of the McKee Rankin Company."

For Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The candidates for the nomination on the Republican ticket for Superintendent of Public Instruction, as far as heard from, are J. W. Whitchee of Storey, W. C. Doyey of Lyon and Wm. B. Daugherty of Humboldt. On the Democratic ticket are mentioned the names of A. H. Willis of Washoe, J. E. Bray of Storey, Robert Lewers of Lyon and C. W. Grover of Elko.

Plumbing

J. B. McGuirk the plumber, is now situated in the Opera House block and all jobs of tinning and plumbing in trusted to his care will be attended to in a workmanlike manner, and you don't have to mortgage your house to pay for it.

Death of Si Waugh.

Yesterday Si Waugh, an old Chinese merchant, yielded up the ghost in his home in Chinatown in this city. He had been the heavy merchant of Chinatown for a good many years. He waxed fat in trade, drove sharp bargains, was unscrupulous, well dressed and dignified. He lived cheap, shaved notes helped the distressed (for 14 per cent), and when he got his paws on a dollar it was there. His manner of living was not luxurious. He eschewed balls, Logan receptions and roller rinks, and let stocks severely alone. Whenever he made any money he salted it down. The writer never had any dealings with Si Waugh, but those who did say that he was about up with the average white merchant when it came to weighing and charging. He was about 60 years of age and will be planted in great state some time this week. The reporter don't know whether he was married or single, and of such is the kingdom of Confucius.

Note Light.

The Enterprise this morning throws more light on the Adams-Logan affair. It claims that Adams thrust himself into the Logan train, and after reaching Virginia City stepped, uninvited, into a carriage, and when he reached the International, disappeared. In conclusion it says: "He did not participate in any of the reception ceremonies, and his presence on the special car passed entirely unnoticed by the distinguished gentlemen he sought to insult."

It appears that Adams became ashamed of his boorish conduct, and being warned by his friends of the probable consequences of his mistake, he made an ineffective attempt to make a showing of retrieving it. He seems to have made a dead failure, and now that the real facts are well known, all the talking his partisan adherents may indulge in will not help matters in the least. The less talking they do, the better.

Journalistic Rivalry.

There is no longer any rivalry between the San Francisco newspapers in matters of brains. It has simply resolved itself into a question of bulk. When big extra editions are issued the outraged public weigh the respective papers and accord the palm of superiority to the heaviest. At the G. A. R. encampment the Morning Call weighed more than any other paper. Very few people troubled themselves to read the big editions, but when one had to watch the big parade from somebody else's steps they were very handy to sit down on.

Another Vacuum to be Filled

Early in September the initial number of the Sagebrush Stockman will be presented to the public to fill a long felt want. It will be published in Reno by the firm of Sayre and Vance, two gentlemen of experience and standing in the journalistic world. It will be a seven column paper of fine appearance, and as its name indicates will be devoted to the interests of the stock raiser and herdsman of the great basin.

Thoughts for the Fireside.

Isn't it an advantage to get your personal and family supplies almost direct from the manufacturers, with the consequent saving in cost?

Isn't it an advantage to not only get goods of the best qualities, but also of the latest Eastern and European styles?

Isn't it an advantage to be able to send to a city for your goods, and get as sure satisfaction as if you went to the expense and bother of going there yourself?

Isn't it an advantage to know that you are paying no more for your goods than other people, who may chance to be better posted as to the value of what they buy?

Isn't it an advantage to buy where everything is as represented? Where wool is called wool; silk, silk; kid, kid; etc.?

Isn't it an advantage to buy where no risk is run? Where, if goods are not as ordered, they can be returned at the expense of the House, and the money refunded?

Isn't it an advantage to have your orders filled as soon as received, and with care, taste and discretion?

Isn't it an advantage to have small orders attended to as carefully as large orders?

If these things are so, send to Weinstock & Lubin, Sacramento, Cal., for Illustrated Catalogue. It gives prices and full information about Wearing Apparel of every description. Free to any address.
